

PROHIBITION MADE LESS DRASTIC BY SENATE PLAN

One of the teeth in the prohibition law was extracted yesterday in the Senate. It was only a baby tooth, but it will give some hope to the "wets."

Cider and light wines, manufactured in the home for use in the home, will be permitted if the decision of the subcommittee of the Senate charged with prohibition enforcement legislation, is adopted by the Senate. The subcommittee agreed to strike out of the bill the prohibition against the manufacture of cider and light wines in the home. The decision was agreed upon after some discussion and was regarded as such a drastic step that the committee considered it inadvisable to actually run the blue pencil through the clause until a later date, after all of the members of the subcommittee have been consulted.

Other Changes Planned.

While there was considerable further discussion concerning the possibility of the necessity of extrajudging other teeth from the law, the subcommittee failed to take any further action of this sort. There are indications, however, that the clause which provides for "drastic punishment for the transportation of liquor in interstate commerce will be toned down so that the man who is fortunate to have laid away a "nip" before the drought came will not be sent to jail if he finds it necessary to move his residence and has the temerity to move his liquor with his household goods.

ARMY PLANES FLEW 55,671,920 MILES IN HALF YEAR

The total number of hours' actual flying by the Army Air Service aviators from January 1, 1918, to July 17, 1919, is 927,852, the Air Service announced last night.

Allowing sixty miles an hour for the planes, a very conservative estimate, the total number of miles flown is 55,671,920, about 2,200 times around the earth at the equator, or approximately 120 round trips to the moon.

The enforcement of prohibition will be placed in the hands of the commissioner for internal revenue. This decision was made by the subcommittee.

Division of the enforcement law into two titles, one providing for war-time prohibition and one for constitutional prohibition, was also agreed upon in the subcommittee. Up to this time the Senate bill providing for enforcement of the dry laws has been under one title and the enforcement of wartime prohibition has been as drastic as the enforcement of constitutional prohibition. The Senate will now follow the lead of the House and give the wets less drastic punishment during the period of war-time prohibition.

More progress was made yesterday in the drafting of the bill than has been made in the past two weeks.

GIRL DISAPPEARS ON TRIP TO BEACH

Parents of Gora Gibson, a sixteen-year-old white girl, reported to the police last night that she had left home yesterday afternoon with the intention of going to the Bathing Beach and had not returned home, nor was any word received from her.

She is tall and slim, with dark curly hair, and wore a light suit with a blue stripe, white shoes and stockings, but no hat.

Her home is 326 B street northwest. Don't let careless expenditure make a sieve of your purse. Buy wisely and increase your money holdings by investing in W. S. S.

SHIP ENGINEERS THREATEN STRIKE

NEW YORK, July 27.—A continuation of the shipping tie-up along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts was imminent today as the result of the threat of marine engineers to strike for wage increases bringing their pay to $25 a month less than that of the captains of ships on which they served.

The strike threat of engineers came after settlement of the difficulties between seamen, firemen and other ship workers with private owners and the United States Shipping Board. The engineers did not strike with the firemen and seamen, but gave encouragement to that strike while pressing demands of their own for wage increases.

About 400 ships have been tied up by the strike in New York harbor, and those having perishable cargoes would have to be reloaded with stocks which were placed in cold storage during the strike.

Final terms agreed on by the Shipping Board, private owners, and the strikers showed that each had receded from the first stand taken and had made substantial concessions.

PRESBYTERIANS TO OPEN CONFERENCE

In preparation for a five-year war against Satan and for intensive efforts by the Presbyterian Church in this country to help solve the world's post-war problems, a seven-day conference of clergymen from all parts of the country will begin tomorrow at Stony Brook, N. Y.

Washington delegates to the conference are the Rev. J. C. Palmer, who will take his wife and two sons; the Rev. A. E. Barrows, and the Rev. Preceley Rohrer.

YEAR'S PAY ASKED AS YANKEE BONUS

A bonus of one year's pay for each soldier, sailor and marine who fought in the war is provided in a bill introduced by Congressman Foster, of Ohio.

Funds to pay the bonus would be raised by income taxes assessed against incomes of $20,000 or more.

Dr. J. B. Bayne, Once Given Up For Dead in Germany, Coming Home

Dr. J. Breckenridge Bayne, of this city, famous for his courageous medical work in Rumania, will return to Washington in September, it was announced today.

Dr. Bayne is still in charge of two hospitals and clinics in Bilestrest, as a member of an American Red Cross unit.

Soon after his arrival in England in 1916, to do volunteer medical duty, the doctor was invited by the Queen of Rumania to go to Bucharest.

He reached that city just before its evacuation and was the only one of the unit to remain, preferring to stick by his patients. He stayed in the city during the long bombing period by the Huns and said that at times he could look up through the glass roof of his operating room and see planes dropping bombs.

Operated On Self.

After two years in Bucharest he made frequent journeys into the wild, mountainous section to care for scourge-ridden peasants. There he contracted pneumonia and afterward diphtheria. For the latter he had to operate upon his own throat.

The people have suffered so much after the end of the war, Dr. Bayne has declared, that they don't care what happens to them.

Dr. Bayne was given the "Star of Rumania" by the King. It is the highest award bestowed by that country.

Probably no other American surgeon has undergone the varied experiences of Dr. Bayne during his years in the war zones. When Bucharest was captured by the Germans he was sent to a prison camp where he was put in charge of the hospital.

For a long period no word was heard from him, until his family finally gave him up as dead. His return from imprisonment was like a story from a book and the tale of his hardships both in the camp and during his escape is a most harrowing one.

Some time after his disappearance, his mother received a suit of his clothing with his watch, but no communication, and this was taken as an indication of his death. A letter was later received from a man who claimed to be a prisoner escaped from the clutches of the Germans, who had been treated by the doctor, and assuring his mother of his safety. This was the only word received until the doctor's return.

Immediately after his return to Washington, from confinement, a year ago, the intrepid physician went back to the scenes of duty with the medical forces on the western front.

His only child lives with Dr. Bayne's mother at the St. Regis, in this city.

HOTEL CLERK KILLS 2; ENDS OWN LIFE

NEW YORK, July 27.—After killing a porter and the detective who attempted to arrest him, John D. Rogers, night clerk at the fashionable San Remo Hotel, committed suicide today.

Rogers quarreled with the porter, John McGoldrick, when the latter refused to obey an order given by Rogers. The night clerk then whipped out a revolver and fired at McGoldrick, killing him instantly.

The police were notified and Detective Maher hurried to the hotel. Maher placed Rogers under arrest and ordered him to accompany him to the police station. Before the detective had a chance to search Rogers the clerk pulled out his gun and fired point blank at the detective. He died within five minutes.

Rogers then hurried upstairs in the hotel and fired a bullet into his own brain.

ITALY ANGRY OVER LACK OF ALLIED AID

ROME, July 27.—Premier Uitti, today presented the Chamber of Deputies with a copy of the peace treaty with Germany for ratification. A committee, consisting of twenty-four members, was immediately appointed to report their findings and recommend what action should be taken.

Transport Minister Devito, replying to questions of Deputies Pacetti and Bigami regarding the refusal of the allies to provide Italy with coal, declared that he must admit with regret that Italy was facing a very grave problem. He said, however, that he hoped help would be forthcoming from the United States. He announced that it was necessary to reduce railroad and maritime traffic.

Devito's statement made a great impression on the deputies, who expressed themselves on the unfavorable attitude of the allies toward Italy.

Following refusal of the government demands made by merchant sailors, numerous steamers were held at Genoa, Naples, and other important ports, being without crews.

Announcement today was made that the government was considering abolition of the daylight saving law.

PITTSBURGH, July 27.—Annie Smith's stockings bulged so much when she arrived in Pittsburgh that police investigated. Several pints of whiskey rewarded their efforts. Annie is in jail.

200 Go to Church Naked; Cult Leaders Say World Soon Will Follow Suit

LONDON, July 27.—The whole world will go naked as soon as it is properly "educated" by the Kosmanites, a religious cult, founded by D. R. Newberry, of Rochester, N. Y., fifteen years ago, according to the British branch of the society.

The correspondent found a barn-like structure resembling an army hut, hidden away in a small woods near the suburb of Balham. This hut is used as a tabernacle.

The Kosmanites believe in going to "church" naked. Balhamites hardly know of the existence of the strange creed in their midst. They thought the hut deserted and were surprised to learn the "congregation" numbered more than 200.

'AROUND U. S.' FLIER HALTED BY STORM

Lieutenant Colonel Hartz, army pilot, who is making a flight around the rim of the country, was forced to land at Ausable Forks, N. Y., today when his gasoline supply ran low after he became lost in mountain storms.

Hartz left Augusta, Me., this morning and was to have reached Cleveland today, the third day of his flight.

$4,250 FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH.

CUMBERLAND, Md., July 27.—The Industrial Accident Commission in the case of Mrs. Emma Simpson against the Builders' Supply Company and the Travelers' Insurance Company, for compensation for the death of her husband, Charles Simpson, allowed her an award of $11.75 a week and $75 funeral expenses, or until the sum totals $4,250.
